From the Navigator

During the day we will be sailing along the northern side of the Bahamas Islands, which lie on our starboard side, with the vast expanse of the North Atlantic Ocean on our port side. Later on today we will pass north east of the Turks and Caicos Islands. During the night our course took us close to the island of San Salvador, thought to be the place where Christopher Columbus landed in October 1492. Tomorrow morning we will arrive at San Juan, with our harbor pilot expected at 6:30 am.

✠ Religious Services

(Wajang Movie Theater, Promenade Deck)

Hotel Manager Willem Cruijsberg

Willem Cruijsberg is committed to his job. His goal is to have every guest leave the ship planning their next Holland America cruise. The hotel manager is responsible for the well-being of all guests. Although the captain is in charge of the overall operation and safety of the ship, Cruijsberg manages the ship's "floating hotel," where the view changes. On the seas there is supervision of living quarters and food services for 560 crew members as well.

Cruijsberg was educated at the oldest hotel school in the Netherlands, located in Maastricht. After working three years in a resort hotel in Holland, he developed wanderlust and joined Holland America to see the world. Twenty-four years and six world cruises later, he has held many positions aboard, and has sailed on just about every ship in the fleet. His travels have helped him build an extensive collection of art and Asian antiques. Among favorite hobbies he enjoys cooking, gardening and reading science fiction.

Willem Cruijsberg was born and raised in Tegelen, in the province of Limburg close to the German border. The town of 25,000 is known for its Passion Play performed every five years. No wonder Cruijsberg's favorite comment is: "Everything is possible; miracles take a little longer."

Decipher the Stripes

The who's who of shipboard personnel can be a confusing task. Are you still trying to decipher the stripes from one officer's uniform to the next? Who belongs to which department?

Basically, each department ship is distinguished by its own stripe pattern. The deck department, including the captain, has gold bars, one of which is looped. (The deck department is also called the navigation department, and a deck officer is called a navigator.) A sub-department within the navigation department is the radio department, whose gold stripes are lined with green.

The engineering department is distinguished by all straight gold bars. The chief engineer has four gold bars, second engineers have three, third engineers have two, and fourth have one gold stripe.

The hotel department is recognizable by their straight gold stripes with white sandwiched between. Although a part of the hotel department, the medical team also has straight gold, bars with red filling.

When in doubt, you can always ask. But following these simple guidelines, you should be able to figure out who's who of shipboard personnel.

Notice

While coming in and out of ports, you may notice a slight vibration. This is due to the bow and stern thrusters being used to maneuver the ship.

Polite Reminder

In order to avoid disturbing those with cabins on Lower Promenade Deck and Main Deck: Joggers, please use the Sports Deck around the dome. THERE IS NO JOGGING AT ANY TIME ON THE LOWER PROMENADE DECK.

Taste of the Veendam

This morning at 10:00 am in the Rubens Lounge our Kitchen staff invites you to experience a taste of the Veendam. This culinary exposition will feature Sous Chef Manuel Galuego as he shares and prepares some of his favorite recipes, Hostess Lynda's Napkin Folding Demonstration and an opportunity to learn how to make Dutch Cheese Fondue.

Following the presentation at 10:45 am we invite you to tour the Kitchen of the m.s. Veendam. During the tour you will observe many of our kitchen staff hard at work preparing food for your next meal. We are particularly proud of the fact that we bake all of our breads fresh each day.

Don't miss these exciting culinary demonstrations and a close up look at the Kitchen.

Slots Tournament

Today between 2:00 pm and 5:00 pm in the Casino we will be holding our Slots Tournament. For a $10 entry fee you will receive 6 minutes free play on one of our popular Double Blacktie or Jackpot slot machines - the six highest scorers throughout the afternoon will play off in a final for the $250 first prize. Play starts at 2:00 pm with the final at 5:00 pm.

Royal Dutch High Tea

In those gracious times of yore, tea-time service was considered quite the social event. Lords and Ladies would gather to discuss current events, the seasonal ball, or just stroll around their beautiful gardens hoping to be seen in their finery. Reminiscent of those days, our chefs are proud to offer you some of the traditional delicacies that royalty so enjoyed and that are sure to please your palate in the Rotterdam Dining Room (Upper Level) 3:15 pm - 4:00 pm.

Late Night Attraction

Holland America Line is very proud of the crew of the m.s. Veendam. Tonight our personnel from Indonesia share their talents in the Indonesian Crew Show at 11:15 pm in the Rubens Lounge. This is one show which we encourage you to bring along your cameras and videos. It's also shown on T.V. Channel 6 (Sony 7).

Environmental Concerns

Holland America Line is dedicated to combating ocean pollution. In keeping with our zero overboard policy, trapshooting has been eliminated fleet-wide because of the detrimental effect that the clay pigeons have on the ocean environment. We appreciate your understanding in this matter.

The m.s. Veendam Art Collection

The tradition of displaying fine art continues on the m.s. Veendam. Here for our guests' enjoyment, is a collection of paintings, sculptures, historical artifacts and antiques carefully selected to recall the trade and cultural ties between Holland and other countries of the world in the 17th and 18th centuries.

Find out more in the Art and Antique Tour starting at 11:00 am at the entrance to the Crow's Nest.

Your Privacy

We at Holland America Line respect the privacy of your vacation, and make every effort to ensure that you have time to yourself. If you are approached and/or solicited by anyone while on board, please contact the Guest Relations Manager.

About Tonight's Show

From an early age, Barry John knew he wanted to be a performer. He loved variety entertainment. He loved to make people laugh. He especially loved to amaze his friends with various tricks and feats that he practiced. As a child in the Detroit area, Barry performed magic tricks and ventriloquism in neighborhood shows he held in his family's garage.

Barry is a seasoned professional who has worked diverse environments and markets. Some notable performances include appearances at the Grand Ole Opry, opening for Three Dog Night, Amy Grant and Loretta Lynn, cable television shows, commercials, casinos, plus countless conventions and corporate functions for Coca Cola, Ford Motor Company and Merrill Lynch to name a few.

Don't miss tonight's exciting performer.
