Welcome to

Costa Maya, the unspoiled coastal paradise of the Yucatan, sprawls off the beaten path from the Mayan ruins of Tulum to the Belizean border. It is the last remaining section of coastal properties yet to be exploited, but not for long. As of now there are only a few hotels in the area, attracting an environmentally conscious ecotourism traveler, but look for an airport in the next few years and a cruise facility as well. Beachfront property is relatively inexpensive, however some areas cannot be developed as they are protected by law. The Sian Kaan Biosphere Reserve is a large park set aside to preserve the natural resources of Costa Maya.

Brilliant butterflies, exotic tropical birds, deer, monkeys-even jaguars are said to roam the remote parts of this pristine jungle. Private relaxation and natural beauty are what call today's visitors to Costa Maya. Scuba divers explore the healthy coral reefs while anglers can deep sea and flats fish. Enjoy Mexico's Costa Maya (before everyone else finds it)!

Costa Maya
